Apache/2.4.41 (Ubuntu) Server on M.Central.edu M.Central.edu 443 Catalog of the stamps of the world The Scott di stampi catalog, published by Scott Publishing Company, now a subsidiary of Amos Media, is updated every year and lists all the stamps of the world that its publishers recognize as emitted for postal purposes. It is published in fourteen large volumes (starting from 2021) which include twelve volumes containing all the countries of the world that have ever issued shipping stamps, a specialized catalog in the United States and the classic specialized catalog of 1840 (which covers the world For the first 100 years in which the stamps were issued) were issued). It is also produced in editions of CDs and DVDs that cannot be printed. The numbering system used by Scott to identify the stamps is dominant among stamp collectors in the United States, Canada and Mexico. Background coverage of the first Scott catalog, 1868 the first Scott catalog was a booklet of 21 pages with the descriptive catalog of the title of American and foreign stamps, emitted from 1840 to today, splendidly illustrated with colored engravings and containing the current value of each varieties. It was published in September 1868 by John Walter Scott, a first stamp trader in New York, and claimed to list all the stamps in the world, with prices for each. A warning inside warns the reader who "is simply impossible for anyone who always has every stamp" in stock. The original catalog was reprinted. A small extract from the Bolivia of the 10s; Each stamp includes the number of Scott, the design, the name, the prices not used and used and the additional annotations, if necessary. As the "1917" suggests first "1913", the related stamps are sometimes logically grouped instead of strictly chronologically counted. In the following years, Scott Company has given up on dealing with lauttaf lauttaf inoizarmofni ella erIO .itacitsifos 'Àip itatnevid onos itsinoizelloc i otulove 'À is ybbob' l ehc onam nam ligatted itroiggam etnemlaudary odnerrof .ogolatac li eracilbbup a otanuinoc ah am The stamps, the catalog includes prices on prices based on market analysis and reported sales of the previous year. Starting in 2006 and, despite the annual changes to save the space, the catalog was more than 5,000 pages. The Scott numbering system assigns simple numbers for normal mail stamps and uses capital account prefixes for types of types for special purposes, such as "B" for semi-positive and "C" for air mail. The numbers are generally consecutive. There are gaps among the most old stamps, in which some numbered types have subsequently been strengthened, and among the most recent stamps in which Scott left the numbers not assigned in the anticipation of additional stamps in à € à € -a series. If more stamps appear of the expected, Scott adds a capital letter as a suffix or if the modification is very recent, rely on the stamps. Minor variations, such as nuances or errors, obtain a tiny letter; So the "C3A" above indicates a variation (error in this case) on what is listed as the third stamp of the United States aerial mail. Due to its commercial importance, the publishers of the Scott catalog claims copyright on their numbering systems and grant only limited licenses for their use by others. The inconsistency with which Scott applied these licenses led to a cause from Scott against Krause Publications (publishers of the Minkus catalog) for violation of copyright. After Krause presented a defense, the case was resolved outside the court and Krause continued to refer to Scott's numbers. [1] The editors of this, the dominant catalog in the United States, have a great influence on it that is and is not considered a valid stamp. For example, in the 1960s the countries of the United Arab Emirates issued many stamps that were probably never .illobocnarf .illobocnarf ilat eraibmacc id Àretufir is inacirema irotidevir ied etrap roiggam al ehc acifngis .aivattut .ttocS id ocnele nu id aznacnam aL .itircisid ilredeve rep .oipmese rep .lehciM ogolatac nu a eradna angosiB .isse id etrap roiggam al acnele non ttocS idniu ,elatsop oiciflu nu ni atidnev ni Scott lists most stamps from embargoed countries from the United States government, and in some cases lists them without catalog values. To a certain extent, this is inevitable, since the import prohibition means that Scott's publishers are not able to acquire copies of the stamps to be described. Furthermore, since American retailers and collectors are unable to purchase the stamps legally, they are unlikely to have any data need. (Again, the people concerned instead use Michel or other catalogs). Politics changes with government policy. The stamps of Cuba, Libya and North Vietnam now appear in Scott catalogs after an absence of a few years. Scott's domain is such that the collectors of the United States know many of the numbers by heart, and traders need only to mention the number in their price lists. For example, the United States no. C3a is immediately recognized as Inverted Jenny, a rare e-mail of reversed stamp. Content Scott Stamp & Coin Company, 1893 the contents for each of the twelve volumes (2021 catalogs) are listed below.
